About CVHHH

We provide a range of services and supports to people of all ages, including moms and babies, active adults, older Vermonters, and those nearing the end of life. We employ a team of about 150 nurses, therapists, social workers, and caregivers, who deliver hospital-level care right to our patients' front doors.

Care includes case management and coordination, medication reconciliation, and regular visits from our team of skilled clinicians. Our long-term care program provides personal care and homemaking support to central Vermonters who, without help, would likely need to move to a facility or nursing home.

The impact of our work is significant. Caring for people in their homes is cost effective. Perhaps more importantly, by providing one-on-one support, education, and high-quality care in a setting where we know people want to be, we give central Vermonters the tools to manage their conditions and maintain their independence. This benefits us all by keeping our communities intact.
